LifeWorks Mentorship Program

LifeWorks one-on-one mentoring program offers LGBTQ youth the opportunity to be matched with an adult in our community who will support them in goal setting through five achievement areas: home, health, education, career, and personal development.

We train each mentor with skills to be there for their mentee—not as parents or teachers, but as people who are there to guide them in being their absolute best selves. The lifelong bond between a mentor and a mentee begins with a 12-month commitment to our program.

HOST HOME PROGRAM HIGHLIGHT

In March the Host Homes Program had a chance to bring awareness about the program directly to the community via radio and television opportunities. The Host Homes Program was spotlighted on two media outlets, KPCC’s “All Things Considered” program, featured on LAist’s website and the Host Homes Coordinator + Director of Community-Based Programs joined Fox11’s “Good Day LA” newscast. From these opportunities, we gained some interest from folks and will be having our Host training on April 9th for these potential hosts.

WE ARE LOOKING FOR HOSTS... IS THIS YOU OR SOMEONE YOU KNOW?

Everyone at the Los Angeles LGBT Center has been amazed and are so grateful to the community members who have stepped forward and offered their homes as a safe place for young people on their path toward acquiring permanent housing. The waitlist of young folks interested in being placed in a Host Home continues to grow, almost weekly. In order to match these youth with safe + supportive housing, we are always looking for new hosts. If you feel like this may be you or someone you know please do not hesitate to reach out to our Host Homes contact page hosthomes@lalgbtcenter.org . Whether it be to move forward with becoming a Host, or to answer any questions you may have about the program. We are so grateful to all of our community members.
